DEATH OF THE GREAT ITALIAN PATRIOT.

Garibaldi Goes Down to the Grave.

THE EGYPTIAN AND IRISH QUESTIONS.

Spain About to Chastise Uraguay.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The Herald's Madrid special says: A council of ministers to-day was presided over by the king. After examining the refusal opposed by the republic of Uruguary to the demand for satisfaction to repeated outrages on the person and property of Spanish subjects, it was decided to order Senor Lorento, Spanish minister to Uruguay to present a concise memorandum asking for satisfaction with a short delay, which the minister will determine, and if Uruguay refuses again, Spain will suspend immediately all relations, as the first step toward more active vindication of her long standing claims.

LONDON, June 1.—In the house of lords the marquis of Salisbury said he had received information that 6000 soldiers were erecting earthworks around Alexandria and that the British government would not permit the fleet to interfere. Salisbury remarked that if they allowed the works to be continued grave consequences might result. He hoped the conference at Constantinople would be a short one.

Lord Granville replied that the government was fully aware of all the circumstances and must be left to judge how it is best to fulfil its duty.

The national exhibition at Moscow opened on the 2d inst. The czar's health was drank with enthusiasm.

The steamer Phœnician has arrived at St. John, N.F., from Queenstown with a large number of immigrants, mostly Germans, for the United States. Many icebergs lie in the track of ocean steamships.

Bebel, the socialist, has been rearrested in Berlin for contravening the law of October.

CAIRO, June 2.—The Khedive declined to entertain the proposal for a ministerial combination under Ragheb Pasha.

LONDON, June 2.—In commons, Under Foreign Secretary Dilke said Arabi Pasha had taken no further steps towards deposition of the Khedive. The government believes all powers would accept the invitation to a congress. He also said the government was in communication with Admiral Seymour in regard to throwing up earthworks at Alexandria.

House went into committee of the whole upon the repression bill. Harcourt said the treason-felony clause would only apply to offences committed after passage of the act. Parnell said the statement was satisfactory as far as it goes, but political offences ought to be entirely excluded from the bill. After a warm discussion, Davey's amendment excluding cases of treason or treasonable felony from those to be tried by special commission courts, was rejected, by 70 to 227.

LONDON, June 3.—Brennan, secretary of the land league, after his release yesterday, addressed a large assemblage in Kilkenny. He said his real jailors were Gladstone, Bright and Chamberlain, and the whole crowd of psuedo humanitarians and renegade republicans who composed the British cabinet. He hoped if the 800 suspects were called upon for real sacrifices they would be ready, if necessary, to die for their country. They had seen the government acknowledge Michael Davitt as a conquerer, and much remained to be done. They must tear up the very roots of landlordism.

CAIRO, June 2.—The Khedive has a telegram stating that the Ottoman commissioners will start for Egypt to-morrow without waiting for the conference.

Fresh earthworks are thrown up at Gabary and 304 cases of cartridges landed. Troops in the barracks hold excited meetings, demanding that Hallam Pasha be immediately proclaimed Khedive. Military officers swagger about the street in a most offensive manner.

The speech of Defreycinet on the Egyptian question in the French chamber of deputies on the 2d inst. made a good impression in Berlin, and will confirm Bismarck's desire to give moral support to the present French government.

The resignation of Fitzgerald, baron of the exchequer of Ireland, was due to his unwillingness to undertake the duties imposed by the repression bill.

The Berlin Kreude Zeitung draws attention to growing feeling of hostility to Germans penetrating the highest aristocracy in Russian circles.

ROME, June 1.—The death of Garibaldi has produced an immense impression. The session of the municipal council adjourned on arrival of the news and performances in theatres stopped. Great popular demonstrations of sorrow will be arranged. The chamber of deputies will adjourn. King Humbert sent a dispatch to Menotti Garibaldi on the loss his family and the country has sustained.

MADDELENA, June 4.—Gen. Garibaldi's will orders his body cremated, and ashes preserved in a porphyry urn near the tomb of his dead child at Caprera. The will is dated September the 17th, 1881, and entrusts execution of his wishes to his wife.

ROME, June 4.—The municipal council has adjourned until the 12th inst., and will send a deputation to Caprera to attend Garibaldi's funeral. The bourses of Rome, Genoa and Naples have closed, and a subscription has been opened by political and workingmen's societies to raise a fund for the erection of a monument to Garibaldi. The chamber of deputies was crowded to excess to-day. President Farini delivered a panegyric on the deceased General during which the whole house remained standing. Signor De Preytis, president of the council, presented two bills, one postponing the national fete till the 18th inst., and decreeing funeral honors, to Garibaldi at cost of the state and payment of pensions of 10,000 lire to his widow and each of his five children. President Farini moved the resolutions, and the chamber adjourned until the 12th inst.,—that members may attend in a body the popular demonstration in honor of Garibaldi and that deputations go Caprera to attend the funeral. Both bills and resolutions were adopted. Senate commemorated Garibaldi in a similar manner.

PARIS, June 3.—In deputies Barrigilione expressed grief of republicans of the death of Garibaldi. Lacinison reminded the house of the help Garibaldi had afforded France in her misfortunes, and moved adjournment as a sign of mourning. De spite protest of the right the motion to adjourn was carried, 301 to 346, amid cheers of the left.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 3.—The Porte informed the powers that Dervish Pasha and Lebil Bey start for Egypt to day with full powers. The Sultan says even should the commissioner encounter with obstacles, he is confident of being able to surmount any difficulty, and therefore cannot share the views of the powers as to the necessity for a conference.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 3.—The Sultan has informed the French ambassador the Porte is able to remove difficulties in Egypt without a conference. The Sultan said he expected his commissioners would be obeyed and he felt quite confident of being able to restore Egypt to her normal state.

A monument to Allen, Larken and O'Brien, alias Gould, fenians, executed at Sanford in 1867, was unveiled at Ennis, Ireland, on the 3rd inst.

ROME, June 5. The Pope on hearing of the death of Garibaldi remained silent awhile, then raising his eyes to heaven, said "There has gone another figure of revolution. Oh, God! be merciful to him." The Vatican organ, Voce de la Verita, says: Garibaldi was one of the most determined but also frankest of our adversaries. Not from him came the heaviest blows and bitterest troubles. He was no hypocrite. May the prayers of his pious mother have smoothed the last moments of her son's agitated life.

EASTERN STATES.

Guiteau Pining Away.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Gaol officials says that as the fact becomes more apparent every day that he must hang, Guiteau is failing mentally and physically. His condition yesterday was startling in the extreme, and forbodes a total smash up before June 30th. His appetite is failing; he has become taciturn and uncommunicative since Lawyer Reed's visit yesterday, and spends his entire time between rising and retiring, lying stretched on his cot, wondering, perhaps, on the few intervening days between life and death. He will surely fail before hanging day. It is the opinion of those who see and know him that the gaol officials will have to carry him to the scaffold, and prop him up until the fatal drop. Abject fear is taking possession of him. Some are inclined to think he will go stark mad a few days prior to the event, and present indications point in that direction. One thing is certain, that is, Guiteau will sink into abject terror, become seriously sick, or become wholly crazy before many days pass.

BOSTON, June 5.—Prof. W. Frank Stewart, of Nevada, died at the Crawford House this morning after a serious illness.

DENVER, June 2—Father Raverty, vicar general to the bishop of this section, to-day refused to allow the rites of the Catholic Church administered over the remains of the late Don Miguel Otero, millionaire, and one of the most foremost men of New Mexico, the reason alleged being that Otero died a Mason. Members of the Masonic order, assisted by Episcopal clergyman, conducted the burial services.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 3.—President Villard, of the Northern Pacific Railroad, has announced that his company has closed the purchase with the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railroad Company, of the latter's line along the east bank of the Mississippi river, between Watab and Anoka. He also states that the Northern Pacific Company will now proceed to bridge the Mississippi at Anoke, and from that point extend their purchased lines into Minneapolis.

NEW YORK, June 4.—James Dolan, king of pickpockets, died of heart disease in Sing Sing prison yesterday. He boasted that he could pick pockets equally well sitting down, erect or standing on his head.

CHICAGO, June 3. Washington special: A private letter from New York was received here to-day from a gentleman in political life who has been with the president most of the time the past week, and says the administration has a surprise in store for the public which will be disclosed upon his return. The plan, according to this gentleman, is this: Lowell is to return from the London mission and his resignation is already on the way. Frelinghuysen will then adopt a foreign policy which shall be as advantageous to the administration as that of Blaine was to himself.

MOOREHEAD, Minn., June 5.—The bodies of two murdered men, M. Washington and Fred Fehserfack, were found to-day, 17 miles north of Pehan. Washington was killed with buckshot, and Fehserfack had his throat cut and a bullet wound in the left cheek, and a wound also from an axe. Washington was a surveyor, and lived in Michigan City. Fehserfack lived with him. John Tiffett, aged 15, is suspected of the murder.

The paesident has approved the bill distributing the Geneva award.

CALCUTTA, June 5.—It is said that the Khonds, an aboriginal tribe in the central provinces, have taken Bowhana Patra, a chief town of the tribe called Cultahs, who the Khonds accuse of agrarian encroachments. They robbed the treasury and murdered over 4,000 people. Portions of the hair and flesh of victims were distributed among the hill Khonds to induce them to join the revolt

CAIRO, June 5.—In consequence of the protest of the British Government against military preparations in Egypt, the Sultan telegraphed the Khedive to request Arabi Pasha to discontinue them, and order cessation of the work on fortifications at Alexandria.

A COUGH is usually the effort of Nature to expel some morbid matter irritating the air passages of the lungs. It may however, proceed from an inflamed or irritable condition of the throat, a slight rash or humor often being perceptible. Let the cause be what it may, the remedy should be Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. A purely vegetable Balsamic throat and lung healer. For sale by all dealers in medicine, at 25 cents per bottle. 13

WE can vouch for it that Hall's Hair Renewer restores gray hair to its youthful color, prevents baldness, makes the hair soft and glossy, does not stain the skin, and is altogether the best known remedy for all hair and scalp diseases. We therefore take great pleasure in recommending Hall's Hair Renewer to our readers. 271

MOTHERS who are startled at the hour of midnight by that ominous hoarse cough of your little ones, what would you not give for a prompt and certain means of relief from that dread destroyer of your children, Croup! Such a means you may have for the trifling cost of 25 cents. It is Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the great Household remedy for all inflammatory and painful diseases. Do not rest over night without it. 15

THE people of the West owe a debt of gratitude to Dr. Ayer for the production of Ayer's Ague Cure. Its timely use will save much suffering and much discouragement, and we recommend it with the greatest confidence in its ability to do all that is promised for it. 222

PUBLIC Speakers and Singers will find Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation and huskiness, and gives power to the vocal chords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous.

WESTERN MEDICAL INSTITUTE, CLEVELAND, O.

Mr. James I Fellows Dear Sir:—We were induced to prescribe your Syrup of Hypophosphites by Dr. McMaster; and its use has been attended with such satisfactory results as to warrant our employing it largely from this time forward.

"THEIR name is legion"—the people who praise that matchless medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters. It acts at once upon the Secretions, the Bowels, the Liver, the skin and kidneys. GARIBALDI.

A great statesman and patriot has fallen. Garibaldi, the liberator of Italy, is dead, and Europe and America unite in doing justice to his memory. The dead hero will rank with the greatest men of any age in disinterested patriotism, singleness of aim, firmness of purpose and successful attainment. Always a liberal, he was twice a refugee from his native land and a price set on his head. He escaped to England, then to North America, and thence to South America, where he took an important part in the liberation of a down-trodden people. When he returned on the last occasion to Italy he set about in a systematic manner to direct the people in a last effort to throw off the yoke of the invader and unseat the petty tyrants whom Austrian bayonets kept upon their thrones. He found Italy divided into small principalities, weak and effete—the people downcast and all but hopeless. His presence infused courage into the national spirit. At the head of a force of volunteers he attacked and drove King Bomba from Naples and secured a firm foothold on Italian soil. Then, when all eyes were turned towards him in expectation that he would proclaim a republic and himself president, he placed the captured territory in the hands of Victor Emmanuel. There were other and sharper struggles before the emancipation of Italy was accomplished; but the capture of Naples was the turning point in the contest. Other victories succeeded, but they were the outgrowth of the triumph over King Bomba. After Rome passed under the temporal sway of the Italian government Garibaldi lived at Caperra in retirement. A cruel wound, which he sustained from a French ball at Mentone in 1868, had long invalided him, but he was ever ready to accord advice and counsel to all who applied. At heart Garibaldi was a republican; but he saw and felt that Italy was not prepared for so great and sudden a change as the introduction of republican institutions would demand; and he contented himself with a limited monarchy as the form of government best adapted to his country. In Garibaldi a great man has indeed fallen, and his loss will be universally deplored.

A DUBLIN MURDER OF THE LONG AGO.

But Not a Parellel of the Recent Crime.

There is one feature of the Dublin cridme which is remarkable, and which leaves it probably without a precedent in the history of that unhappy land. The pages of the crimminal records are stained on every page with agrarian outrages of great ferocity, out Ireland has been remarkably free from the crime of political assassination. Not for three-quaters of a century has there been committed a murder that can fairly be traced to the possession of a high office bp the victim. Even the killing of Viscount Kilwarden, on July 23rd, 1803, though in the main a political offence, exhibited an element of private malice, and the killing was done under the excitement of an emeute. On that remarkable evening Robert Emmet led his handful of followers into the streets of Dublin and attempted to overthrow British rule in Ireland with a force which hardly had strength enough to get up a riot. The strgglers who followed the insurgents met a carriage containing Lord Kilwarden, Chief Justice of the King's Bench, his nephew and daughter. The Chief Justice was a kind hearted and popular judge. What is more, he had shown a leaning to the national side in the administration of justice. He had steadily declined to strain the law against the prisoners brought before him after the insurrection of 1798, and, in Wolfe Tone's case, had courageously attempted to remove the patriot leader from the jurisdiction of a court martial by a writ of habeas corpus. Lord Kilwarden had such confidence in his personal popularity that he proffered his name as a passport when his carriage was stopped by the mob. "It is I," he said, "Kilwarden, Chief Justice of the King's Bench." Unfortunately, there was in the crowd a man whose brother had been sentenced to death by the Chief Justice some years before. The vindictive rioter ran up to the carriage, and, crying out, "You are the very man I want," stabbed Lord Kilwarden with his pike. The nephew was slain a moment afterward, but the daughter was permitted to escape. The military came up shortly after, and the Chief Justice was carried to the nearest watch house. There he lingered for an hour in agony. One point of the death-bed scene is well worth noting, for it conveys a lesson which may need a modern application. When the notorious Major Swan assured Lord Kilwarden that his death would be promptly avenged, and that all the prisoners would be sent to the gallows next morning, the dying Chief Justice rebuked the iniquitous suggestion. "Murder," he said, "must be punished; but let no man suffer for my death, save on a fair trial and by the laws of his country." From that fatal day of 1803 up to Saturday last Irish history failed to show a single example of the assassination of any conspicuous official.

SEVERE FIRE AT QUEBEC.

The Princess Louise Arrives in Canada.

QUEBEC, June 2.—The Grand Trunk railroad station and sheds, and Dominion, Ontario & Quebec immigration sheds and offices at South Quebec burned to-night. Several Inter-Colonial and Grand Trunk cars were also burned. Benoit's hotel, adjoining the station, was gutted. Loss variously estimated at $100,000 to $400,000, according to value of freight in sheds. Nothing can be ascertained about insurance as that is arranged in Montreal.

QUEBEC, June 4.—Princess Louise will arrive about 2 o'clock this afternoon and be received by steamer John McNeil, at Equerry. There will be a parade by the Queen's Own Hussars, and artillery officers of the garrison at Halifax have already arrived to participate.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Forty-nine democratic clubs of the city held meetings last night and elected delegates to the democratic state convention. A majority of the delegates elected are in favor of George Hearst for governor, with Jas. A. Johnson for second choice.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—This evening John D. Connelly, an old resident of this city, fell from the window of his office to the sidewalk, a distance of about twenty feet, and received injuries from which he soon after died. Deceased was aged 55 years, a native of Ireland, and married. At the time of his death Connelly was justice of the peace and president of democratic club No. 2.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Miss Clara, daughter of ex-Supreme Judge Crocker, was found dead in an attic room of her brother's, with a handkerchief saturated with chloroform over her face. Her death is supposed to be accidental, as she has been in the habit of using the drug to deaden the pain of a disease with which she was afflicted.

Judge Hoffman, of the U. S. district court rendered a decision Friday afternoon, condemning a ton of opium seized by officers in the harbor on the 3d of January last.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—Shortly after midnight James McNally was shot dead by A. J. Reardon. McNally and John C. Meehan, both in liquor, entered the rear entrance of a saloon on the corner of Amy street and the San Bruno road. Meehan began quarrelling with Reardon about a debt he owed him. Reardon ordered them out. A row ensued. Reardon was knocked down and kicked by his assailants, when he fired, hitting McNally near the heart and killing him. Meehan continued kicking Reardon, when the latter's fifteen-year-old daughter ran out of her bedroom and attacked Meehan with a beer glass, gashing his head, when he fled.

OREGON.

Big Haul of Horse Thieves—The Election.

PORTLAND, June 5. Information has just been received here of the capture of four horse thieves, Dan Sarter, Freeman Mustard, Douglas Mustard and George Glover, near Lewiston, Idaho. Of late horses wer missing from different bands. Suspicion pointed to these men, who had started a drive towards the river. A posse of citizens started out with rifles and overtook them at Steptoe Landing. The stolen horses were found in their possession. The thieves at first tried to escape, and then showed fight. They were taken to Colton, bound over and sent to Colfax for trial. Much excitement prevailed and some talk of lynching is heard.

The vote to-day was light, but showed an increase in the city of 900 over the vote of two years ago. Considerable scratching on county offices. The majority in this county is usually the State's majority, as the remainder of the State is equally divided. Democrats generally concede the re-election of George for Congressman. Republicans estimate his majority at 1800. An Independent estimate to-night is that the Republican State ticket is elected by a majority of from 500 to 1200. There is a bare possibility that Shattuch (Dem.) for supreme judge is elected over Lord (Rep.) The vote is probably one thousand short of full. No returns from outside counties.

THE CHINESE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Sir John Macdonald Opposed to Their Coming.

TORONTO, June 5th.—A special to the Globe from British Columbia says Fraser River steamers are running to and fro with loads of Chinese coolies for work on the Canadian Pacific Railroad. Something like 8,000 will be employed on the work before the close of the season. The newly arrived are reported not free from leprosy.

At a political meeting at the Amphitheater, Sir John Macdonald said: "I am opposed to Chinese labor in America, for I do not think it is for our permanent interest to bring in semi-barbarians to work out and supersede white labor!"

A voice—"How is it they do come?"

"Well, they do come, and so do rats. I am pledged to build the great Pacific Railroad in five years, and if I cannot obtain white labor, I must employ other."

Washington Territory.

DALLES, June 2.—J. P. Fenton was shot and killed at Lone Rock Thursday morning by W. H. Caldwell. Mr. Holcomb and Caldwell were at work building a fence, when Fenton came up and assaulted Caldwell, striking him over the head with a club. Caldwell warded the blow with his arm, and Fenton followed it up, when Caldwell pulled his revolver and shot him dead. Caldwell came in town to-day and gave himself up to the sheriff.

John Galbraith, a sheep herder, committed suicide at Thorn Hollow by taking a dose of strychnine, and was found dead in his cabin on the 20th ult.

Municipal Police Court.

(Before Hon A. F. Pemberton.)

TUESDAY, June 6.

John Parker, jr., was charged by officer Flewin with having ridden a horse along Dallas road at a pace faster than six miles an hour.

Geo. Weston appeared for the defence.

Dr. Moull, R. N., testified that on Saturday afternoon, accompanied by his wife and son, he was driving in a phaeton along Dallas road when the defendant who was on horse-back, dashed out of a side road at a furious rate and crossed the main road. The hind feet of the horse struck a barrel. This startled his own horse, which was not under his entire control, and startled witness' pony. As he passed, witness said, "This is nice work, you careless young blackguard." The boy made some remark. On nearing government buildings the lad rode up behind witness at an excessive rate; he was so near that witness could have touched him; he came by so suddenly on the soft road that it not only startled the occupants of the phaeton but caused their horse to shy violently; a very serious accident might have happened. Subsequently witness called at the butcher shop of the father to complain of the conduct of the son and was sorry to say that he was told to go to —— out of his shop and asked who the —— witness was. Had he received courteous treatment he would not have brought this charge; witness said that butcher boys were in the habit of riding furiously to the great danger of the public.

Prisoner's counsel said certain ladies were allowed to drive furiously through the streets and this boy was made a scapegoat for them. He had seen a horse with a spring halt which looked as if he was going a mile a second when in reality he wasn't going a mile an hour.

The case was adjourned till Friday.

TAMPERING WITH A SEWING MACHINE.

The charge against W. H. Adams, agent of Singer Sewing Machine Company, and J. Goldstone of placing emery powder in a sewing machine, was proceeded with.

Mr. Theo. Davie for the prosecution; Mr. Pooley and Mr. Drake for the defence.

Mrs. E. Pickles, sworn—Am the wife of Abraham Pickles, who is a machinist; defendant Adams left a sewing machine at my house a week ago last Friday; it was left for the approval of witness' husband; Mr. Fletcher, the complainant in this case, called on Monday and made remarks about the machine; he saw my husband the same evening and on Tuesday evening; he came again on Wednesday night and brought two gentlemen; Fletcher examined the machine Adams had left, taking off the back, my husband and the other gentlemen watching Fletcher to see what he was doing with the machine; they watched at Fletcher's request to see if he put any emery into it; Fletcher then left the house; on Thursday defendant Goldstone came to the house and I told him Fletcher had been there and had opened the machine; told him Fletcher had said it was made of castiron and not worth more than $25; Goldstine said I should not have let Fletcher touch the machine as he had spoiled two or three by placing emery in them; he said he would send Adams for the machine; Adams came the same evening, a little before 6 o'clock; Goldstone was with him; my husband was not at home then; Adams examined the machine; Fletcher had had no opportunity to reach the machine after he examined it in company with the other gentlemen; Adams said I ought not to have allowed Fletcher to touch the machine—that he (Fletcher) had spoiled two or three machines and he (Adams) would wait till my husband came home as my husband was a machinist; when my husband came home Adams asked if he knew emery when he saw it? My husband replied "yes"; Adams turned the machine up and took his knife and scraped some emery off the works; he took the front plate off and there was emery behind it; Fletcher did not touch the front plate when he examined the machine and I am satisfied that at that time there was no emery about the machine; after Adams had taken the front plate off and exposed the emery there he put the plate on again and went away; he said he was going to put Fletcher through for it; at the time Goldstone first came Fletcher was in the house by appointment, waiting for Goldstone or Adams to come; Mr. Bamfield was with Mr. Fletcher.

Cross examined for the defence—Fletcher was in my house Monday morning, Monday night, Tuesday night and again on Wednesday night; he came on Thursday with Bamfield; Fletcher came to my house on Monday to sell me a sewing machine; he saw Adams' machine there and did not stay long; was with him all the time; he did not touch the machine; he told me the machine was made of cast-iron; the machine was standing by the window; am certain I was in the room all the time; saw my husband on Monday evening; Fletcher had no opportunity of being alone in the room on Monday night; he came on Tuesday night again about the sewing machine; he had no opportunity of touching the machine as far as I know on Tuesday; did not agree to buy the machine on Tuesday night; Fletcher came to examine the machine on Wednesday night; did not ask him particularly to come; thought there must be something in Fletcher wishing to examine Adams' machine in my house; Fletcher wanted to show my husband that the machine was cast iron and not worth the money; do not think it was necessary for Fletcher to examine the machine to see that it was made of cast iron; another reason for his wishing to examine this machine was that he had been accused of putting emery in machines; I was present when Fletcher, Braden and McDowell examined the machine and watched attentively and could have seen anything that was done; they took the back off the machine; it was turned on its side when they examined it; have not purchased the machine from Adams; at the time of the examination by Fletcher and others there was no emery found on the machine; Braden, McDowell and my husband examined the machine after Fletcher had examined it; on Thursday Goldstone came by appointment about the machine; expected Adams; told Goldstone that Fletcher had examined the machine; Fletcher and Bamfield were in the kitchen to hear what was said; Fletcher asked permission to come to the house to see if they would accuse him of putting emery in the machine; when Adams came on Thursday evening about 6 o'clock he went into the room where the machine was; Goldstone was with him; I went into the room with them; Adams turned the machine on the side; he then took his knife out and put his knife somewhere under the shut leracs; he then called my attention to some emery; Adams said it was emery; did not know it was emery at the time; Adams afterward showed my husband and my husband said it was emery; Adams then took the front plate off; Adams said there was emery under the front plate; he told my husband the same; when Fletcher opened the machine he did not touch the front plate; the emery has now come down here (pointing to the needle bar); there is not much of it; Adams was in my house about ten minutes before my husband came home; I remained in the room with Adams till my husband came home; I certainly could not have seen Adams if he had put emery as he was standing with his back to me so that I could not see the machine; Adams did not take the front plate off until my husband came home; when he had his back to me he turned the machine on its side; could see him turn the machine but could not see what he was doing after it was up; shortly after he turned the machine up he took his knife out and showed me the emery powder; Adams told me he was going to put Fletcher through for it; I have Adams' machine at my house now.

Court then adjourned for an hour.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

John Braden, sworn—I am a plumber, acquainted with working in iron; know the nature of emery powder in its dry state; am acquainted with Fletcher and Adams. On Wednesday last I was in company with McDowell, Fletcher, Pickles and Mrs. Pickles at Pickles' house, Chatham street, between 7 and 8 o'clock. We were there for the purpose of examining a sewing machine, to see that Fletcher did not injure it in any away. Fletcher asked Mrs. Pickles if he could examine the machine; permission being granted Fletcher brought the machine to the light, Fletcher then turned to us and said, "Now I wish you to see and take particular notice that I do not injure this machine in anyway. I have been accused of putting emery powder into machines and I want you to watch me very particularly." He then took the belt off the bottom wheel and threw the machine from its bed on its side; he spoke about the quality of the iron and asked witness whether he thought it was iron or steel; he then put the machine back in its place and took the back plate off, called our attention to the work inside the plate and asked our opinion about the machine; he picked out all the bad faults about the machine; after doing that he stepped on one side and said: "Now just examine that machine and see that there is nothing in it whatever." At this time McDowell, Pickles and myself were standing beside the machine. We examined it and I threw it back on its side, and then we examined the works on the inside. I took hold of the machine, and worked the wheel so that I could see the needle bar working. I was satisfied that there was no emery about the machine anywhere. There was plenty of oil on the running gear and it worked very easy; I put the machine back in its bed. Fletcher asked us if we were satisfied and we said "Yes." Fletcher then took the back plate that was lying on one side and placed it in its place with his right hand, and put the two screws in. These screws are the screws that fasten the plate in its place. McDowell, Fletcher and myself left the the house. The front plate where the needle bar works was not taken out, there was no occasion for it. I knew there was no emery powder in the first place for if there had been by working the wheel you could hear it grind there. when working the wheel; it would be impossible for any emery to be there unless it left a mark on the bar, the needle bars being lubricated with oil. The moment emery comes in contact with oil it turns it black, and this bar working perpendicular would make it show there sooner than anywhere else. I for one was satisfied that there was no emery about the machine, it would be impossible to put emery behind the front plate without taking it off by putting it in the side. I carefully examined the machine and found no emery, and it would be impossible for any emery to have been there without my having detected it, if any person had placed emery in the machine for the purpose of destroying it he would not have put it where it was subsequently found; the most vital points of a machine are the journals, and had any person wished to destroy the machine he could have put emery in the journals through the oil holes and it would have cut the machine to pieces in two days' ordinary work, and would be very difficult to discover; watched Fletcher closely, went for that express purpose.

Cross examined by Mr. Drake—Went there at Mr. Fletcher's request; it did not strike me as queer for Fletcher to ask me to go with him because he had been accused of putting emery in machines at several places, he mentioned New Westminister and a place here, and said he had been accused several times by Adams; he said he was going to look at a machine that night and wanted me to go with him to see that he did not put emery in it; he did not tell me whose machine it was; I accompained Fletcher after supper; did not say whose machine it was; did not speak about the machine on the road; did not know where I was going; I really thought of the charge, Fletcher was quite all the time; of this charge Adams brought against him; I would have been surprised if Fletcher had put any emery in while I was there; I then thought the previous charges against Fletcher were false; I am now satisfied that Fletcher did not damage the machine in my presence.

To Mr. Davie.—I had heard of the charge against Fletcher by Adams in the Supreme Court here and one at New Westminister; it was quite common talk, I was not surprised at his taking steps to show his innocence.

Abraham Pickles sworn—I am a machinist and work for Mr. Spratt, am acquainted with Fletcher. since last Monday week; I became acquainted with him through his coming to see if he could sell me a sewing machines; he told me he was accused of putting emery in the machines; said Adams accused him, and he would like put Adams to a test to see who it was put emery in the machines; he said if I would let him look into that machine and not let Adams know that there were any witnesses there except my wife, that it would be a test for him whether Adams would put emery or not; I said I did not care to have anything to do with the business and he said that Adams was circulating a report that would ruin his business if continued; I said I had no objections to think the matter over and if he had reliable witnesses I might allow him to lork into the machine; so I told him to call again he did so on the following evening and stated that he could bring two reliable witnesses; he then took his leave and called again the next night with Braden and McDowell; we had a conversation and then he said he would show my wife the machine; he turned up the machine as stated by Braden; there was no emery in the machine at that time; I know that there was not any emery powder behind the plate because I listened when Braden turned the wheel and I could not hear any noise; if there had been any powder I could have heard it; there was no sign of emery on the needle bar; all the parts that showed were quite clear after it had been worked by Braden; I agree with Mr Braden's evidence in reference to what occurred when Fletcher examined the machine and Braden, McDowell and myself afterwards; It was not possible that there could have been any emery powder in that machine at the time he left; Adams and Goldstone were in the house when I came home from work on Thursday evening; my wife was there also; Adams asked me if I would keep the machine; I told him no, I was not going to have a machine for some time; Adams asked me if I was a machinist? I told him I was; if I knew emery when I saw it? I told him I did; he said he would show me the machine; he then turned the machine on its side, pulled out his pocket knife and scraped some emery off the machine; the emery he scraped off was on the shuttlerace; he then gave me his knife and I scraped some off and examined it; I was perfectly satisfied that it was emery; and the coarse grains of the emery that were on the machine were almost dry; I came to the conclusion that it had not been there very long as if it had been it would have been soon saturated; Adams accused Fletcher of putting it there; and remarked that it was an old trick of his; Goldstone was present; Adams said Fletcher had done it at New Westminster, at Stubbs' and somewhere else; he said he was going to see a lawyer and put Fletcher through for it; the machine produced is the machine in question the number being 334-5972; Adams took off the front plate of the machine, but before doing so he said he would see if Fletcher had put any in there; he put his right hand on the top of the needle bar and took the plate off with his left hand. I saw something like emery fall underneath the table, and it was dry. I did not see Fletcher after Wednesday evening.

Cross examined by Mr. Pooley.—

The emery was distributed more or less all along the bar that the shuttle carrier works on. The oil would take the fine emery under the shuttle carrier in time, there was a good deal of oil on the machine, it would be possible to put the emery in the niche in front of the plate with your fingers, but probably some it would fall on the table, I did not see any sign of emery on the table, it was nicely lubricated in the evening. Do not think that the powder on the table had been there as long as a quarter of an hour.

I was informed after Adams had left that Fletcher and Bamfield had been there about 3 o'clock. The emery had the appearance of having been put there in a hurry, the larger grains were lying on top of the smaller ones, the smaller ones were saturated with oil; it is not possible for the larger grains to have been there 2 or 3 hours without becoming absorbed as there was too much oil on the machine;—When I took the emery off and saw the particles dry I did not mention it to Adams; I did not tell Adams because I did not think it necessary, as Adams said he was going to take legal proceedings against Fletcher and I made up my mind to tell then what I knew and that was what Fletcher desired: told Braden first that I found the emery dry, told him the same evening. I went to see Braden; Braden and I saw Fletcher and McDowell the same evening and we discussed the matter. The matter was arranged to test whether Adams had put emery in the machine. I know that Adams and Fletcher are rival sewing machine agents and they both puffed up their machines to me. I could not tell at a casual glance whether the machine in question was made of cast iron. Fletcher said that all that class of machines since the patent expired were made of cast iron.

Court then adjourned till 11 a. m. Wednesday.

Esquimalt Police Court.

(Before Wm. Fisher, Esq., J. P.)

Mr. Almond Thomas was summoned for burglariously breaking into the house of J. F. Roberts at Jones' landing.

Mr. Roberts swore that Mr. Thomas entered a building he used as a workshop and removed some empty barrels, a sail, &c., therefrom at about 7 o'clock on Friday last. He admitted on cross-examination that there was a dispute as to whether the house was on a lot he rented or one that Mr. Hinton rented.

Mr. Walls for defendant objected to the jurisdiction of court on the ground that there was a question of title involved. His honor, however, decided to proceed.

Mr. Hinton swore that he had purchased the house from a Mr. Boyel and rented the land from Dr. Powell. He let the place to Mr. Thomas.

His honor adjourned the summons to give him time to weigh the evidence.

THE RAIN.—The slight fall of rain yesterday has checked the forest fires and imparted needed moisture to vegetable life.

THE GREAT FRESHET.

The Matsqui Dyke Swept Away.

AND THE PRAIRIE FLOODED.

The Flood at Chilliwhack and Elsewhere.

(Special to The Colonist.)

MATSQUI, June 6.—At nine o'clock this morning the planking of the gate of No. 3 slough succumbed to the heavy pressure of water and caved in allowing the water access to the prairie. Shortly after the water burst through between the flood gate and bank on No. 2 slough. Water is now rushing through at a terrific rate. At the time of the collapse the water was within 20 inches of the high water mark of 1876.

Weather cool and threatening rain.

YALE DISTRICT.

YALE, June 6.—The warm weather of the past week has raised Fraser river to within a foot of the high water mark of 1876. To-day the weather is much cooler and as the rise for the past six hours has been very little and the quantities of drift much less, it is hoped that the turning point has been reached. The wagon road between here and Boston Bar is under water in many places and it is impossible to estimate the damage at present. The bridge four miles above here is washed out. Yesterday the water was up to within ten feet of the suspension bridge. It is estimated that the damage so far to R. R. works is about $10,000. No traffic can pass over the road for a month at least. No reports from the upper country. The telegraph line under water 16 miles out.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 6.—Water to-day has risen to within one foot of the high water mark of 1876 and is still rising. Lower flats of the city now under water, weather cool with heavy rain since three o'clock.

Steamer Enterprise from Victoria arrived at 5:30 p.m. and Princess Louise with mails at 7:15 p.m.

CHILLIWHACK DISTRICT.

CHILLIWHACK, June 6.—The water has now reached within eighteen inches of the mark of 1876 and is still rising. The trunk road is submerged for miles and culverts floated off. All the low land is covered; it is difficult at present to estimate the amount of damage to crops but it will be very heavy. No loss of stock or damage to building reported. Traffic is entirely suspended. The Chilliwack river is about at a stand owing to the cloudy weather which set in yesterday evening and which still continues.

HOPE DISTRICT.

HOPE, June 6.—River two inches higher than it was in 1876 and is now apparently at a stand-still; drift wood constantly going down. The bank is undermining considerable. One China house is full and surrounded by water. The house is tied by ropes to prevent its going down river. The young fruit trees are nearly covered with water. Weather cold and raining.

Nanaimo Shipping.

(Special to the Colonist.)

NANAIMO, June 6.—Arrived, steamer Hunt, Departure Bay; arrived, steamer Sardonyx and Otter. Cleared, steamer Escambia, coal laden for San Francisco, Sardonyx and Otter for the North.

Accidental Death of a Victorian at New Tacoma.

The George E. Starr brought over the remains of Andrew Smith, a young Victorian, who met with his death on Sunday morning last at New Tacoma. It appears that deceased and another young man attempted to cross a small mill pond on a sawlog, and when about halfway over, but only a few yards from the bank, both were precipitated into the water. Smith must have received some injury in falling, as he went to the bottom and never once rose to the surface. His companion rose, struggled ashore and with a pole managed to bring Smith to the bank; but life was extinct, or so nearly so that he could not be resuscitated. His brother was telegraphed for at Kalama and come over with the body to his widowed mother, who for many years past has resided on Fort street. She has the hearty sympathy of the entire community in her loss of this the second of her stalwart sons who has met with a violent death. Andrew was well known among the young people of this city, having grown up amongst them almost from infancy, and at the time of his melancholy end was a nightwatchman on the N. P. R. Works at Tacoma. The funeral will take place to day.

The Skagot Mines.

T. H. Stringham, who has been in the Skaget mines for the past two years, having gone there in Feb., 1880, during the excitement and has remained there ever since, has returned to Seattle for a few days. He informs the Post-Intelligencer that he first prospected for placer diggings to the northeast of Ruby creek, over toward Lightning creek, but found that the gold belt did not extend in that direction. All the mining that has so far been done has been done on Canyon and Ruby creeks with varied success. The gold in the stream is coarse, but as there is such a volume of water the creek bottoms cannot be worked anything like successfully with limited capital. The miners have latterly been working on the benches with very fair prospects, and the indications are that very good hill diggings will be discovered. Stringham states that all the streams that head in the Thunderhead range prospect very fairly in gold, while no prospects are obtained from those coming from the north and northwest. Our informant states that he has discovered several quartz ledges, some of which are good, and one of Mr. Stringham's missions into civilization is to ship specimens from these ledges to Denver, Colorado, for assay.

THE SOUND.—The dead body of a man, named E. Durnal, was found at the foot of a bluff near the barrel factory, Seattle, on Sunday evening. He had evidently fallen over the bluff and smashed his skull....Mrs. F. Tarbell, whose life has been despaired of at Olympia, is thought to be slightly improved....The members of the Nellie Boyd Co. who were stricken with small-pox are nearly well It is impossible to tell whether the remainder will be taken down with the disease or not. They were all exposed, and it will be very surprising if they all escape. They have not, however, been quarantined, as many supposed, but some are in town, some out to Lake Union, and some camping across the bay.

What Some People Say.

That, "Is the game pretty good this season?" asked a California tourist of a San Francisco urchin who with difficulty supported upon his shoulder a fowling-piece almost as big as himself. "Bully," said the boy. "Plenty of snipe, plover, and ducks, I suppose?" "Snipes—plovers—ducks! Naw!" was the contemptuous answer. "Plenty of Chinamen."

That dance music should be written in foot notes.

That the height of meanness is to borrow cream butter and pay in oleomargarine.

That R. Copeland will stand for the local House in the city in the "interest" of the local government.

That M. Walsh will stand for the representation of the dry-dock in the local House.

That 400 workmen are idle in Portland awaiting lime. Could not Vancouver Island spare a few thousand tons?

That 40,000 Chinese are expected here before the 1st of October. What a Celestial abode this province will then have become.

That the new judge will be gazetted in a few days at Ottawa.

That "I don't care so much about the loss of my thumb," said the grocer, whose horse had amputated the member; "but as a source of profit I shall miss it. I've measured that thumb in the shape of beans, meal and molasses nigh onto a thousand times. Well, my wife can't afford a new parlor carpet this spring."

That some steps should be taken to check the growing tendency toward intemperance in this city.

Marine.

The British steamer Strathairly, which recently arrived with 1056 Chinese, has been measured and found to have a legal carrying capacity of only 730. The overplus of 325 at $50 per head penalty, will eat up the profits of the voyage.

Information has been received at San Francisco that a burned vessel, supposed to be the British ship Hermes, from Glasgow to San Francisco, was passed at sea in latitude 50 south, longitude 93 west, on March 5th. No particulars are yet known The cargo of the Hermes consisted of pig iron, coke, 280 tons of coal, fire brick, English ale and porter, fire clay and cement, and was consigned to Richards & Harrison, of San Francisco. The value of the ship was $105,600, and her cargo was valued at $40,000, all of which is covered by insurance.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—British bark Claugrant, 968 tons, wheat to Cork, £2 13s. 9d.; British bark Carleton, 1358 tons, wheat to Cork, £2, 13s, 8d.; ship Annie H. Smith, 1503 tons, wheat to Cork for orders, to Liverpool, Havre or Antwerp, private; British bark Bolivia, 923 tons, breadstuffs to Sydney, £6.

Steamship Idaho, Captain Carroll, from Portland on the 4th, consigned to Welch, Rithet & Co., arrived yesterday morning, bringing twenty passengers and a quantity of freight. She sailed for Sitka at 7 o'clock last evening.

Ship Sumatra began to discharge cargo at the H. C. Co's. wharf yesterday morning, but hauled over to Janion's wharf last evening.

Steamship Escambia passed down last night for San Francisco with 3,300 tons of Washington coal on board.

Music and Fun.

The Standard Minstrels and Muldoon's Pic-nic Party made their first appearance last evening. The entertainment partakes of the character of minstrelsy and comedy. The first part and the olio being far away above the average, and the list being one of the most amusing and nonsensical comedies ever presented to a play loving public. In the first part Charley Reed, Burt Haverley, Pete Mack, and T. B. Dixon were most successful. Reed's song was encored four times, and the audience even then allowed him to go with reluctance. Haverley's Tyrolean song was scarcely less acceptable. In the olio Reed was equally successful. The duett by Messrs. Dixon and Bishop was highly appreciated and encored Haverley and Mack's "Aesthetic Hop" was a most laughable presentation, and being encored they gave a boxing match, which produced roars of merriment. The "Child Wonder," Little Flora Walsh, in songs, dances and reels, was one of the chief features of the evening. She is very clever, and as sweetly pretty as she is clever. Harry Shirley played on the zither, violin, banjo and other instruments, and won frequent encores. Muldoon's Pic-nic is an extraordinary production. It abounds in awkward situations and startling tableaux. From beginning to end the audience were kept in convulsions of laughter. Mr. Reed as Mulcahey, and Mr. Mack as Muldoon, are simply indescribable in their droll native wit. Flora Walsh, as Jennie Muldoon, and the ladies of the company added to the amusement, while "That Donkey Jerry" upset everyone's gravity. The entertainment could not have been more satisfactory. Seats should be secured at Hibben & Co's. during the day.

Released from a Nevada Silver Mine.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—A Virginia dispatch to-night says six men penetrated the Alta drift with refreshments for the imprisoned miners. All wore ice helmets to enable them to pass the belt of three hundred feet of foul air between the entrance and the drift. The prisoners were found in comparatively good condition. They had turned the water from the drift into their ice water keg, and when empty twisted the end of the compressed air pipe into a barrel, and standing around breathed the air thus cooled as it arose through the water. About midnight they were removed from the drift, whistles along the lode signalling the event. The bodies of Bennett and Callahan, who attempted a rescue by boat, were recovered.

H. M. S. ROCKET with commissioner Powell on board, will sail for the N. W. coast to-day and remain away about six weeks.

CAPT. THORN arrived yesterday on a visit to his old friends in this section.

THE WATER WORKS.

THEIR CONDITION VERY SATISFACTORY

Yesterday the Mayor and Council made their annual visit to Victoria Waterworks at Beaver Lake. His Worship Mayor Shakespeare, Councillors Wriglesworth, Baker, Shears, Warren and Wilson, together with water commissioner Russell, water engineer Hendry, city engineer Harris and The Colonist representative made up the party.

On arriving at the head works on Beaver lake the company was received by Mr. John Larkin, the resident caretaker. Mr. Hendry then conducted the city fathers, several of whom were there for the first time, through the works and pointed out the improvements that had been made during the past year or two, meanwhile making suggestions as to further extensions that in the near future will have to be considered and carried out. One of the filter beds was laid dry in a few minutes, and although cleaned only a day or two ago was found to be encrusted with a considerable layer of vegetable matter and other impurities. The surface of the beds is skimmed off weekly and the sand thoroughly washed and cleansed in a sluicebox before doing duty again. This is accomplished by means of a force-pump driven by a breast wheel in the waste water channel. That the water is effectually filtered is shown by its transparency when discharged into the reservoir from which the mains are fed. Besides being cleansed from impurities the water is forced up large pipes from which it flows over circular tables. By this means it is spread over a considerable surface in a thin sheet and is thus aerated by coming in contact with the atmosphere. This process, in imitation of what is done by water rippling over a pebbly bottom, tends to improve the taste. There is no doubt that when the water enters the mains it is as pure an article as can be found in any city. Whatever impurities are discoverable when it reaches consumers are imparted during its course through the pipes. Before long the filtering surface will have to be extended by making a filter of the present reservoir, and a new reservoir constructed alongside the present one. This can be done at a small outlay as but little blasting and masonry will be necessary.

There has been a great improvement in the appearance and condition of Beaver lake during the past year or two. The bottom is comparatively clear of vegetable matter and the surface entirely so. It is slowly, but surely, assimilating with the larger sheet of water known as Elk Lake, and the water in the one will soon be as pure as that in the other. Year by year the conditions are becoming more favorable for obtaining pure and wholesome water. Leaving Mr. Larkin to resume his duties the party returned to Mr. Stevens' hotel, where an excellent lunch had been provided. It is needless to say that the pleasant ride out, the examination of the works and the stroll in the vicinity were of a most appetizing character, and that such justice was done to the meal as must have convinced Mrs. Stevens that her cuisine was thoroughly appreciated.

His Lordship will give a written decision in a few days.
